

Bright sparks: the Wi-Fi installation

Part art, part science, installing access points for optimal performance can take some learning.

More and more businesses and homeowners are trusting their electricians to install Wi-Fi networks as Australia goes even more digital. Learning a few simple best practices can help sparkies take advantage of that opportunity, as can using devices like Aruba's Instant On Access Points - designed for fast, simple, and high-quality Wi-Fi installations in all types of environments. Head to www.instanton.club for more tips and ideas on how to make your first install - and each one after - the best it can be.
